how do children play nowadays what rhymes do they sing what games do they play anyone who works with children will happily tell you that children don't play the way they used to but what does that really mean drawing on the results of the first major survey into children's play in fifty years the lore of the playground explores children's modern day behaviour and puts it into a historical context from skipping to tag from marbles to conkers and from eeny meeny miny mo to one potato two potato the lore of the playground will present a fascinating insight into everyone's childhood the death of the playground talks about the tragic loss of free play in america our public playgrounds were the places where it all happened where developing boys could learn together to first sit and watch and learn from those older truly become an important part of a group and fit in make up their own games and improvise that to have friends you must first be a friend handle disappointment and that life isn't always fair realize that all great things take time to become part of something bigger than just themselves this one was most important on the playground they did all of this without direct parent or adult supervision they made up their own rules of play picked their own games decided for themselves what was fair and learned to live with the consequences all of this doesn't mean parents weren't involved they were they just weren't over involved kids raised with their parents doing everything for them then grow up and want their government to do the same thing i think we all know where that road leads america's corporations desperately need the developing titans like the ones that fought and won two world wars created the powerful multi national corporations and wrote the great books of the 20th century the chain connecting boyhood to manhood is now broken let me take you back to find the missing link revisit with me the playground of my childhood and share with me the pure joy and magic of my 8 years of free play it's not too late to recapture that magic for our children but we have to act and we have to act soon kurt philip behm website authorhouse.com bookstore itemdetail.aspx bookid 54309 available amazon b n borders most independents author house from conkers to marbles from british bulldog to tag not forgetting one potato two potato and eeny meeny miny mo the lore of the playground looks at the games children have enjoyed the rhymes they have chanted and the rituals and traditions they have observed over the past hundred years and more each generation has had its own favorites some pastimes such as skipping have proved remarkably resilient their complicated rules carefully handed down from one class to the next many are now the stuff of distant memory and some traditions have proved to be strongly regional loved by children in one part of the country unknown to those elsewhere all are brilliantly and meticulously recorded by steve roud who has drawn on interviews with hundreds of people aged from 8 to 80 to create a fascinating picture of all our childhoods
